BROADSIDES ARE FIRED FROM THE U. S. S. PRESTON AT SHORE BATTERIES NEAR CHINKIANG

One Hundred American Civilians, 16 U. S. Sailors, and 16 British Bluejackets Are Killed — U. S. Consul J. K. Davis Said To Be Wounded

PEKIN, Mar. 25 (I.N.S.)—Broadsides from four-inch guns were fired from the U. S. S. Preston today at the shore batteries in Chin-Kiang.

The Chinese batteries opened fire and the Preston returned the fire immediately.

Reports to the Legation here are indefinite, but it is understood that the action occurred while American refugees were being removed from Chin-Kiang.

SHANGHAI, Mar. 25.—One hundred American civilians, 16 United States sailors and 16 British bluejackets were killed by rifle, machine gun and artillery fire from the Cantonese forces at Nanking on Thursday, according to authoritative advices from Nanking this afternoon.

United States Consul J. K. Davis, at Nanking, who was reported last night to have escaped with his family, is now said to have been seriously wounded.

The number of British civilians killed had not been estimated when the casualty list was sent from Nanking.

American and British warships renewed their bombardment of Nanking at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said another dispatch from that city.

Earlier advices by radio indicated that the American and British naval authorities had decided to postpone drastic action against the Cantonese at Nanking pending the arrival of Gen. Chan Kai-Chek, commander of the Southern army.

The 155 American men, women and children who were detained in Nanking were still held by the Chinese, according to word received during the morning.

A Japanese warship had landed a force of 30 men at Nanking early in the day to investigate the shore situation and found that the Japanese Consulate had been looted, but that virtually all the Japanese nationals had evacuated the city.

There were heavy casualties among the Chinese during the firing at Nanking and while the American and British warships were bombarding to prevent the Cantonese from storming Socony Hill where the foreigners had taken refuge.

Gen. Smedley Butler, who has been appointed commander of all United States Marines in the zone of hostilities, arrived on the liner President Pierce. He immediately went on board the armored cruiser Pittsburgh and conferred at length with Admiral Williams, commander of the United States naval forces in Chinese waters. Afterwards Gen. Butler visited marine headquarters prior to visiting general headquarters with Gen. Duncan.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25 (I.N.S.)—American guns were again in action in China today.

Cantonese in charge of the forts above and below Chinkiang opened fire on the American destroyer William B. Preston, acting as escort for refugee ships, and the Preston returned the fire from her 4-inch battery, according to a dispatch to the navy from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

There were no American casualties. The message did not state the damage inflicted on the Chinese forts by the Preston's guns.

Admiral Williams reported the situation at Chinkiang as serious.

MANILA, P. I., Mar. 25 (I.N.S.)—Intensifying the American naval concentration in China, four more destroyers sailed from here today. Three destroyers, the Peary, Ford and Pillsbury, are already enroute to Shanghai.

The destroyers sailing today and their destinations are the Parrott for Foochow; the Bulmer for Amoy, the

LATE NEWS

READING, Pa., Mar. 25.—Federal Prohibition agents acting under orders of Samuel O. Wynee, Prohibition Administrator of Eastern Pennsylvania, raided the famous Deppen Brewery here, arresting Louis F. Wiswesser, president. He will be given a hearing before a U. S. commissioner in Philadelphia today, officials said. Wiswesser is charged with manufacturing high-powered beer, some of the samples seized testing as high as 4½%, Federal agents say.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 25.—Traffic on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad was delayed two hours today by a freight train wreck near Duncannon. Two cars from the middle of the train rolled from the track into the Suquehanna River. No one was injured. Railroad officials have begun an investigation to determine the cause of the wreck which forced six cars from the middle of the train.

SPIRITUAL SONGS TO HEAD CHURCH PROGRAM

Group of Singers from A. M. E. Church to Render Special Numbers

CHOIR WILL SING

Two Bristol churches are planning special musical programs for Sunday evening, at which time the choirs of both will render programs of an exceptional nature.

In the Bristol Methodist Church a group of singers from Bethel African M. E. Church will sing several numbers, which are sure to please a large audience which will gather to hear them. This group of singers has been heard before and has always delighted its audiences. They will sing Sunday evening some of the Spiritual songs which have made their section of the country famous.

In addition to this special feature the choir of the church will render a special program under the direction of James Guy.

The monthly musical will be given by the choir of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. The choir will be assisted by Mrs. Theodore Hanson, noted soprano soloist. Mrs. Hanson brings with her a wide reputation as a soprano soloist of the highest order and a musical treat is in store for all lovers of good music who will attend this musical on Sunday evening at 7.45 P. M. The program in its entirety is as follows:

Organ Prelude, Remembrance, Groton, Mrs. M. D. Weagley; Anthem, Send Out Thy Light, C. Gounod, Choir; soprano solo, He Maketh Wars To Cease, John Prindle Scott, Mrs. Theodore Hanson; organ offertory, An Evening Benediction, Diggle, Mrs. M. D. Weagley; male quartette, Sweet By and By, C. T. Edwards, Mr. Melvin Johnson, first tenor, Mr. Norman Hetherington, second tenor, Mr. Clifford Ayars, first bass, Mr. George Bischoff, second bass; soprano and alto duet, Thy Way, Not Mine, O Lord, Shultz, Mrs. C. I. Bowen, soprano, Miss Grace Shaver, contralto; piano solo, Sonata Pathetique, Beethoven (in memory of the death of the composer, who departed this life one hundred years ago), Mrs. M. D. Weagley; contralto solo, O Eyes That Are Weary, F. H. Brackett, Miss Grace Shaver; soprano solo, The Prayer Perfect, J. Whitcombe Riley, Mrs. Theodore Hanson; anthem, Unfold, Ye Portals, Alfred Judson, choir; Postlude, selected, Mrs. M. D. Weagley, Accompanist, Mrs. M. D. Weagley; director, Mr. Thomas H. Snelson.

Personal Notes

—Mr. Chauncey Stoneback, Jr., has returned to his home on Jefferson avenue after spending two days in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, N. J., where he was operated on for tonsils.

—Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Buchler, Jr., and daughter Marie, of Jefferson avenue, are enjoying a week-end at Atlantic City, N. J.

—Mr. Michael Barrett, of Mauch Chunk, Pa., is spending several days at the home of his sisters, the Misses Anne and Margaret Barrett, of Beaver street.

BILLY MOFFO IN SEMI-WINDUP

Tonight in the semi-windup at the Cambria, Billy Moffo, of Bristol, will meet Ray Romney, of South Africa. This is the local boy's first appearance in the ring since he knocked out Jimmy Larkins three weeks ago. Romney has just arrived in America and has fought some of the best fighters in Philadelphia. He scored a wonderful victory last week. If Moffo beats Romney tonight he will be another step higher in his goal. Moffo has been training hard in St. Ann's "gym" and will be in fine shape when he enters the ring.

BRISTOL A. A. WINS FROM CARPET MAKERS

Make Another Step Upward In Contest for Second Half Honors

FINAL SCORE 34 TO 12

Bristol A. A. won another game in the race for second half honors in Bristol Basketball League last night in Lutheran Hall, when they sunk the Leedom basketteers 34 to 12 in a rather listless contest.

The Blue and Gold jersied boys had the game in hand from the very start running up a nice lead and adding to it as the game progressed, the carpetmakers being unable to get by "Big Al" Bauer and Jim Sackville, sterling guards of the A. A.

The Celtic five met a Tartar in their game last night when they met the A. O. H. The Celts just won in the last minute of play through a whirlwind finish of Lawler and Downs who scored four field goals between them in the closing minutes in a most sensational manner.

When the "Hibs" took the floor Sid Sweeney and Charles Dugan were absent. Joe Kervick and Lawrence Brady substituted for them and a wonderful game these two lads played. The game had just started when Huby Brady met with a nasty accident his face coming in sudden contact with a Celtic player's head, forcing him out of the game. It was later found that Huby had to have four stitches taken in his lip. Captain Johnny Brady was forced to get a player out of the crowd to take Huby's place before the game could proceed. Hugh Dugan, the "smiling mailman", jumping into the breach, put up a whale of a defensive game. The A. O. H. held the fast Celtic five even right up to the closing minutes when the Celts woke up.

NAMED ASSISTANT CHIEF COUNSEL OF PROHIBITION DEP'T

John Leslie Kilcoyne Will Assist In the Prosecution Of Cases

IN THE PHILA. DISTRICT

Will Not Interfere With His Legal Practice Here

A local attorney, John Leslie Kilcoyne, has been appointed by the United States Prohibition Department as assistant to Warren C. Graham, who is chief counsel to the prohibition administration for the Philadelphia district.

Mr. Kilcoyne received his appointment on Wednesday, and at that time assumed his new duties. His work in connection with the Prohibition Department will in no way interfere with his local practice.

The Philadelphia District includes the territory of Philadelphia and Bucks Counties, the southern portion of New Jersey as far north as Newark, and the entire state of Delaware.

The duty of those connected with the chief counsel to the prohibition administration is to prosecute for the United States Government alleged violations of alcohol permits.

In a case where a man is permitted by the Government to have a number of gallons of alcohol a month for industrial purposes, and is accused of converting same to other uses, the case is referred to the office with which Mr. Kilcoyne is connected. The accused individual is cited by the Prohibition Board of the district. He then is taken before said board which presents the case, he in turn presenting his side of the question.

The case is then passed on by the attorney sitting as judge in the case, who gives his opinion. The defendant has the privilege of appealing the decision to the District Court of the United States. The U. S. Court may then either uphold the decision or rule against it.

Mr. Kilcoyne is a graduate of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, being admitted to the bar in Philadelphia. He has practiced law in Bristol for the past three years, conducting an office on Bath street. He is a member of both the Philadelphia and Bucks County bars.

Edgely

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew MacArthur of Griebe avenue, entertained the "500" club at their home on Friday evening.

Elliot Dallas, of Riverview avenue, attended the funeral of his father, Samuel Dallas, of Jenkintown, Pa., on Monday.

Mrs. E. B. Robbins, of Trenton, N. J., spent Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McLaughlin, of Riverview avenue.

SAMMY MOFFO WINS

Last night in Camden Sammy Moffo defeated Artie McCann. The Bristol boy was entirely too fast for McCann, who appeared to be a slugger. Moffo carried every one of the eight rounds and in the fourth opened a cut over McCann's eye.

—Mrs. Ellen Garwood Cunningham, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is making an extended visit with Mrs. L. J. Bevan, of Dorrance and Cedar streets.

Mrs. Chester Beaton Gives Hospital Card Party

Mrs. Chester Beaton, of Pond and Dorrance streets, gave a card party Thursday evening at her home for the benefit of the Harriman Hospital.

There were nine tables of "Five Hundred" formed and a number of beautiful and useful prizes were awarded to the winners. The scores are as follows:

Mrs. A. Popkin, 4620; Mrs. George A. Hussey, 4060; Mrs. Robert R. Pearson, 4060; Mrs. William Ennis, 3640; Mrs. Joseph Peirce, 3350; Mrs. Louis Dries, 3320; Mr. L. Ward, 3300; Mrs. Maurice Roche, 3290; Miss Hester Boyle, 3060; Mrs. William E. DeGroot, 3060; Mrs. J. B. Spencer, 2920; Miss Florence Peirce, 2800; Mrs. Anna Burke, 2740; Mrs. Herbert Hanson, 2690; Miss Gladys J. Renk, 2610; Miss Edith McConnell, 2600; Miss Dorothy McConnell, 2560; Mrs. L. Ward, 2560; Mrs. Chester Beaton, 2430; Mrs. Edward Renk, 2390; Mrs. P. J. Burns, 2350; Mrs. C. Harkins, 2300; Mrs. Woodruff, 2300; Mrs. Frank Green, 2290; Mrs. Thomas Kelly, 2180.

A number of cakes which were donated were sold and a neat sum was realized.

BUSINESS BLOCK WILL BE BUILT AT CROYDON

Otto Grupp & Son Let Contract for $40,000 Enterprise Along the Bristol Pike

STORES, APARTMENTS

A business and residential block is to be constructed at Croydon. The new development will be located directly opposite the passenger station of the P. R. R., along the Bristol Pike. The enterprise is to be owned by Otto Grupp & Son and the contractor who will do the building will be Howard Leister, of Croydon.

The building is to be of brick construction and will be two stories in height. There will be five medium size stores on the first floor with basements beneath and apartments on the second floor above each of the stores.

Ground will be broken today for the operation which it is estimated will entail an investment approximating $40,000.

One of the features of the development will be that a one unit automatic oil burner will supply sufficient heat for the five stores and the five apartments.

This is the first really large substantial building project to be started at Croydon and its consummation bespeaks a new Croydon, one of permanent construction. It also inaugurates development of the community in an entirely different section from where most of the building in Croydon has been centered. It will mean the opening of a new tract and one which no doubt will develop rapidly. It is located advantageously to the new plant of Largman-Gray, hosiery manufacturers.

Mr. Grupp, Jr., the younger member of the firm, said that the properties as yet had not been leased.

FERRY BACK IN SPRING ATTIRE

The "William E. Doran," ferryboat plying between Bristol and Burlington, arrived in Bristol last evening, following the annual overhauling and inspection at Cramp's Shipyard, Philadelphia. The ferryboat now presents a splendid appearance since receiving its new coat of paint.

—Mr. and Mrs. Earl McEuen, of Jackson street, spent Sunday in Harrisburg, Pa.

TEMPLE COLLEGE TEAMS TO PLAY HERE TONIGHT

The high school basketball teams, both boys' and girls', will play the Temple High boys and girls in the final games of the season tonight in the new auditorium at Wilson avenue and Garfield street.

Coach Hoffman has his varsity five in great shape to play the game of their lives, fresh from their victory over Hatfield High. The quintet, led by Bill Hardy, are confident they will close the season in a blaze of glory.

The girls' sextet, too, is sure it will win, and if confidence wins basketball games the girls will bring home their final victory.

Favorable Comment Indicates Success Of Boy Scout-Playground Fund Drive

Judging from the favorable sentiment which has been aroused in the Borough, the kindly expressions of approval, and the promised support of the movement given by the manufacturers and business men who have been approached, the drive for funds, which starts today, for the purpose of maintaining the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America, and the establishing of playgrounds in Bristol, will go over big.

The proposition to keep the playgrounds open both mornings and afternoons, in order that the children may have a place to play, removed from danger, has met with general approval everywhere. One of the citizens summed up the matter appropriately, when he said, "If the playgrounds do nothing more than keep the children off the streets and highways, and provide a place where they may play in safety, removed from the menace of automobile traffic, it will be worth all the efforts put forth, and the money which shall be contributed. The value of any undertaking having as its object the protection of the lives of the children, cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

Another citizen, commenting upon the work of the Boy Scout organization, was heard to remark that "an organization designed to interest the boys during the adolescent period, that provides wholesome enjoyment, that holds up American ideals, and trains them in the duties of citizenship, should receive the whole-hearted support and encouragement of all good citizens."

The proposition involving the support of these two movements is squarely before the people of Bristol and their indorsement or rejection will be registered in the drive which is to be made tonight. As stated heretofore, $4500 is needed to finance these two propositions for two years. Citizens may pay their subscription for this year in cash, and sign a card pledging their contribution for next year, or they may pay their subscription for both years, at this time.

Every home in Bristol will be visited today or tomorrow by the members of the teams, which have been organized in the different wards. Citizens are requested to have their contributions ready when the collectors call. At the conclusion of the drive, the members of the teams will meet in the Legion headquarters and make their reports. Later a list of all subscribers will be published.

The citizens of Bristol have always responded loyally to the call for their support to any and every worthy object. A few months ago, the drive for funds to supoprt the dental clinic, associated with our local schools system, was most successful. The activities of the school children always receive the whole-hearted support of the public. Knowing the endorsement and support which the citizens have given in the past, to every movement in which the welfare of the children has been involved, the committee having the drive in charge tonight will begin its work confident of success.

Professor And Students Visit Local Airplane Factory To Observe Methods

The plant of the Keystone Aircraft Corporation here is becoming nationally known as a model plant for the building of aircraft and also for the smooth working organization which functions in the construction of the birds of the air.

Quite frequently there are groups of students who come here for the purpose of observing the methods employed and to see at first hand the method of aircraft construction as employed here.

Yesterday Professor Alexander Klemin along with 10 students and graduates of the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics of New York, visited the Keystone Aircraft Corporation's plant as one of a series of educational trips given by the school for the benefit of students to the leading airplane manufacturers in America.

Professor Klemin, as spokesman for the group was loud in his praise of what he termed "the most modernly equipped airplane plant I have ever visited." Professor Klemin in speaking with a Courier representative remarked further that "the method the Keystone Aircraft Corporation uses in welding the various parts in the construction of airplanes is the most perfect I have ever seen. It is as near to perfection as any device is possible to be," he said.

The students looked with much interests at the "Pathfinder," the large airplane being constructed here for the flight of Lt. Commander Noel Davis from New York to Paris.

While in Bristol, Professor Klemin renewed old acquaintances with Edwin Malloy, assistant chief engineer of the Keystone plant, who was a former associate with the Professor in the firm of Aeronautical Consulting Engineers of New York. George DeBell and Peter Miller, who graduated from the Guggenheim School and who are engineers here, also greeted their former instructor.

FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1927

THE MILL GRINDS ON

The sixty-ninth congress produced voluminous volume by the process of codifying all the surviving laws enacted during the century and a half of the republic. This is the first time in thirty years that all federal statutes have been combined in one book.

The public printer will turn out the codified laws from his big shop as rapidly as they can be printed and bound, and within a few months every congressman will receive his copy. After the congressional demand has been supplied, any citizen so keenly desirous to obey all the laws can obtain the new and complete edition of federal statutes at a price to be fixed by the government printery.

But this volume does not make ignorance of the law a defense even poorer than the legal axiom makes it.

Before the public supply of the codified old laws will be off the press another congress will have produced enough new laws to fill a supplement. The sixty-ninth congress surpassed its most ambitious predecessors in turning out its grist of statutes. In ten months it placed 1,422 new laws on the statute books and many members are already apologizing to their constituents for not passing more.

If the rate of increase continues for a few years longer, those who would be law-abiding will require the constant services of a staff of lawyers and a traveling law library and the aforementioned legal axiom will needs be amended to read:

"Ignorance of the law is no defense after the first arrest and conviction."

NO FUNDS FOR RADIO CONTROL

Thirty million radio fans are hoping that Secretary Hoover and the members of the new radio commission will be able to discover means by which organization of the commission may be effected despite the failure of congress to pass the measure carrying the radio control appropriation.

Existing conditions "on the air" call for wise regulation at the earliest moment. The measure creating the commission and defining its powers was not the wisest that congress could have passed, but it was a moderately good beginning, and it woud be disastrous if the benefits it offers the millions of people who find pleasure and instruction in the radio should be denied for months simply because of a senate filibuster.

The public will be disposed to support Secretary Hoover in any expedients he may be able to advise, and its support probably would be effective for his protection and the protection of the radio commission should congress, having made a mess of things, assume a critical attitude in the next session toward those left with the duty of clearing the mess away.

In most other departments left by the filibuster without new appropriations emergency ways and means have been found to keep the wheels moving. But the radio listeners are still walking the floor.

This experience with radio control is another lesson for the much-deceived public in the possibility and probability of slips 'twixt the signature that makes a bill law and the putting of the new law in operation.

A philosopher is one who gets what he wants in this world by wanting less.

NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Add $50 or $60 to the down payment on a Four —and get a Nash

Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance costs little, if any, more than 4-cylinder performance.

You can buy a Nash Light Six enclosed car for as little as $925 f. o. b. factory—an amazingly low price for a car like this.

For besides the exceptional smoothness of Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance, the Nash Light Six has every worth-while feature of modern motoring:

Full force-feed lubrication; Nash mechanical 4-wheel brakes, with front wheel brakes totally enclosed. Double-beam headlights; Automatic windshield cleaner; Rear-view mirror; Gasoline gauge on instrument board.

5 Budd-Michelin steel disc wheels; Alemite chassis lubrication, instead of old-fashioned grease cups.

Air cleaner and oil filter to seal the engine; steering gear especially engineered for balloon tires.

And, in closed car bodies, genuine hardwood frames with rounded rear roofs like the costliest custom cars.

You can buy this car for about the same price as one of the higher priced fours. At the most, you'll only need to add $50 or $60 to your first payment.

PEKING, Mar. 25 (I.N.S.)—Rear Admiral Hough today advised the United States legation by wireless that the British, Japanese and American naval commanders at Nanking had decided to refrain from drastic action to effect the release of 155 Americans detained by the Chinese pending the arrival of Gen. Chang Kai-Shek, commander of the Cantonese army.

The original plan, following the sending of an ultimatum, was to shell the Cantonese military headquarters at Nanking and release by force the Americans. At 10 o'clock this morning, the hour set for the expiration of the ultimatum, the Americans were still in Nanking and had not been delivered up to the foreign naval forces.

TRADE NOTES

In the display window of Spencer & Sons, Mill and Radcliffe streets, there is a display of the Belding-Hall ElectrICE electrical refrigerator.

A portion of the unit shows that the ElectrICE is self-defrosting, no mass of ice gathering on the freezing unit, which would possibly lessen its cold-producing powers.

Legion Man Wins Essay Contest Prize

Packet Company. The contest which was run under the auspices of the American Legion News Service opened June 1, and closed September 15, 1926.

McKinnis, for a time a German war prisoner, who placed first in the national contest, has had a varied career and came from a long line of soldiers. The father of McKinnis after returning from the Spanish-American War, where he served with the 10th Pennsylvania Volunteers, was killed in a railroad accident. McKinnis lived with his grandfather and in his third year of high school the World War began and he decided to enlist in the Tenth Regiment of the Pennsylvania National Guard. After being sent to Camp Hancock, Ga., his unit went overseas, as B Company of the 110th Infantry. On July 14th, 1918, Bastille Day, McKinnis was wounded by shrapnel and captured by the Germans as he crouched in a shell hole. Representatives of the Allied Red Cross found McKinnis in the prison camp at Rastatt, Germany, and effected his release. McKinnis, along with other prisoners, was loaded on a train and taken to France by way of Switzerland. After a month at Vichy, he rejoined his outfit in May, 1919, and sailed for the States.

By working in the steel mills during the summer, McKinnis was able to continue his school and will get his A. B. degree from the University of Pittsburgh, this year, going to night school to get his last four credits. McKinnis desired to become a newspaper man after writing some short stories which only brought rejection slips from the publisher. He says he was not successful as a newspaper man and giving up in despair went to work in the Pittsburgh Railways Company, helping edit railway stories. McKinnis renewed his determination to write, after much discouragement, and it was in this come-back that he staged a victory over the 1,000 entrants in the essay contest. McKinnis is an active member of Anderson-Adkins Post of the Legion.

The prize-winning essay of McKinnis, which has to do with his experiences in France, follows: "Why I want To Go Back To France."

"I want to go back to the land of romance once more—to march down the sweltering roads again with the memory of a carefree gang of doughboys tramping along to the songs of 'Hinky-Dinky, Parley Voo,' 'Good-Bye, Broadway; Hello, France,' and dear old 'Madelon.'

"I want to be a part of that dust-covered column once more; to live again the things that made it hell, yet made us love it, too—lines of sweat streaking down dusty faces and necks—dangling hands swelling up to numbness as pack straps tighten across the shoulders—noisy mess-wagons with clanking pans rolling along in the rear—a passing outfit of 'Frogs' trudging out of the lines for a rest—ambulances jammed with muddy, bloody, grinning Yanks going back to 'Blighty,'—and the distant boom of big guns banging away over the hills in front of us.

"I'd like to crawl back into a certain cramped and water-soaked dugout up near Toul, and watch it rain, rain, rain. I want to lie once more in a wheat field below the old chateau in Conde Embre, and watch for 'Jerry' heads popping up and down in the trenches across the Marne. I want to live again the night of July 14th, when they poured up through that field to wipe us out, and to see if the same little trench is still there where we found 'Ed' and 'Charley' four days later, leaning over their rifles on top of the parapet just as the 'Jerries' had knocked them off.

"I want to live all the nights again; to see the bursting shrapnel and to hear it whistling for its victims; to hear the frantic cries of 'gas' repeating down the line; to lie listening to the dismal moan of the 'G. I. cans' going over to wake up the boys from Berlin. I want to crouch there in my dugout listening and wondering. Listening to the dull, heavy boom of far-away cannon rumbling through the night. Listening to the drip, drip, drip of the everlasting rain out in the darkness. I want to lie there wondering—always wondering—what it's all about.

"I want to see French hills, French fields, French sky, French people once again. I want to see the kids—to know that they've learned to smile since the war.

"I want to go back to France once more—not to seek new joys or thrills, but to revive the dreams of old that are fading with the years."

Unique Use Made Of Chevrolet In Michigan

"Faced with the necessity of making long trips through a territory frequently covered with snow drifts 20 feet deep and where temperatures often hover around 38 degrees below zero, Charles Surrell, of the firm of M. Surrell & Son, Chevrolet dealers at Newberry, Michigan, has constructed a novel Chevrolet 'snowmobile,' utilizing a Chevrolet motor and chassis," say Castor & Weed, local Chevrolet dealers.

"The front end of the queer looking vehicle, which attracts unusual attention wherever it appears in the snow-covered upper peninsula, is fitted at the front end with wooden skis, attached to the regulation Chevrolet axle and steering knuckles. The car is easily handled despite the heavy snow drifts and the average depth of 30 inches of snow encountered in his daily travels, Mr. Surrell says. The rear end of the car is fitted with two sets of Chevrolet wheels, set tandem style, over which an endless tractor belt equipped with flanges operates.

"So powerful is the special tractor equipment when powered with the standard Chevrolet motor that Mr. Surrell has often been called upon to tow heavy cars out of snow drifts where the have become hopelessly stalled. The extensive alterations required to transform the Chevrolet into a snowmobile were all made in the service station of M. Surrell & Son. The Chevrolet motor had already put in four years of active service on a Chevrolet touring car before it was utilized for special winter service," Mr. Surrell says.

COMING BACK

A defunct used car can be cheaply doctored up so that it will just about carry the purchaser away. The trouble is, he stays away. You can't make customers by making enemies. We prefer to make and keep friends.

Doesn't This Justify Henry Ford's Faith in American Good Sense?
"You ask me why I bought a Ford," says a plain-spoken man. "It's because I'd rather have the meat of a nut than the shell—rather money in the bank than a flashy car and an overdue bill at the grocer's."
[The improved Ford is bigger value than ever—all models finished in Pyroxylin—an almost indestructible satin finish—does not show sand or water spots—5 beautiful colors.]
